Summer, a time of relaxation, merriment, and amusement. Everyone has something to do, whether it's vacationing, working, or just relaxing. "It's a relief from everyday stresses, giving me a time to relax, think about myself, and revitalize my mind," said Corey Eisenberg, who is currently a senior at JDHS.

Many seniors, and even juniors, took advantage of their driving privileges and drove down to the beach or even to water parks. Some people even had the opportunity to travel and go somewhere amazing for vacation! "If I were able to vacation anywhere in the world, I would definitely go to Amsterdam; it's the Soho/Las Vegas/Brooklyn/L.A. of Europe. It's amazing with the club life, music stores on every corner, traditional Dutch food, everything's awesome," senior Ross Fish stated.

Unfortunately, not all people have the time to travel, some have to work. Whether it's working at the local candy store, the movie theaters, ShopRite, or the pizzeria, these people are kept busy and rewarded with a paycheck!

Every summer, there will always be new experiences and precious memories that will be held sacred. But no matter what's done, summer always seems to go by too fast!

Homecoming

Nothing but smiles at Homecoming!

The 2009 Homecoming Dance was one of the most anticipated parts of the school year. Unlike the traditional Homecoming dances at Dayton, this year the dance fell on Halloween. Although many of the students of Jonathan Dayton prepared for this night of fun, many of the seniors were upset that this was their last Homecoming dance of high school! "It feels a bit sad I can't get the party started anymore," recalls Senior Giuseppe Paternostro.

Many hours were spent by students, in order to pick out their ideal homecoming outfits to look their best for the occasion. "My ideal homecoming outfit would be the all black look- black blazer, black turtleneck, penny loafers, and a pipe," stated Michael Gabriel. Anything for this fine senior to look his best for this last dance.

After a long night of dancing on the gym floor with the music reverberating though the speakers, the seniors, as well as the underclassmen, stormed to the front of the stage where the Senior Superlatives were announced. Soon after that, the Homecoming Nominees were announced, followed by the ever anticipated Homecoming King and Queen (John Hoehn and Dana Strober).

Everyone who attended Homecoming seemed to have a night of fun, shared with friends! Homecoming of 2009 was a night to never be forgotten.

Senior Elliot Karp shouted "S-E-N-I-O-R-S," and in response the rest of the Class of 2010 repeated after him. This year Dayton's blue, orange, and white spirit radiated throughout the gym and hallways. Between football games, the pep rally, spirit week, and interclass games, one was sure to bump into a Dayton fan decked out in school colors and face paint almost everyday.

Spirit week is a time when the entire school can show its true pride. This year, spirit days included sports day, rock 'n' roll day, wear red day, decade day, and class color day. Interclass games wrapped up that week. Senior Shireen Abdelaziz, when reflected back on the week, proclaimed, "It's a time for the classes to bond, decorate the gym, and become even closer than before."

Bulldawg pride dominated the gym this year. Of course the seniors took control of the spirit amongst the crowd, but the other grades followed. School spirit is something that will never dwindle at Dayton, and is sure to continue to grow each year. If anyone ever questions Dayton pride, he just needs to take a look in the gym during Interclass games or attend a football or soccer game to see what Bulldawg pride is all about.

Express Yourself

By: Angela Reina

Expressing ourselves is a way of letting oneself be known, whether caring about being judged or not lift is a way of letting oneself be who neishe is through expression. Senior Daniel Osias believes that the best way to express himself is through clothes, art, and music. Many people would agree with Dan while senior Ben Shabat thinks that his way of expressing himself is by participating in random acts of kindness.

Although students in Jonathan Dayton express thomselves freely, they do it within the Imits I don't believe that students in Dayton express themselves freely because most students are sheltered and to worned about being judged, recalls Senior Corey Eisenberg

It is difficult for students to express themselves freely in school because of rules and regulations, but nevertheless, they try to do so in the best that they can, Senior Ben Shabal doesn't believe that he can express himself freely because of the restrictions within the school, while senior Daniel begs to differ because he feels he can rexpress himself with no problems.

Many students in Jonathan Dayton express themselves through fashion, art, music, and just their own way of life. Students should not feel afraid of being judged or made fun of Instead. They should just be themselves and hey will be respected more for who they are.

Cars

by Arielle D'Achille

Looking at the Dayton parking lot, students and teachers can see that everyone takes great pride in what they drive. From Gina Corcione's Volkswagen Passat to John Ghilino's Dodge Stratus or even the famous Honda Civic, owned by Nick Circelli, Danielle DeFronzo, Kimberly Shanks, and Ryan Zahn, the student parking lot at JDHS is a unique one.

With the newfound ability of driving, most students are enjoying the freedom that comes with it. "I like not having to worry about getting a ride or waiting for my parents," says Sharleen Garcia. "It's just so much easier."

But with all the freedom that driving allows, there's a down side. Most students are giving rides to friends everyday, or running errands for parents and using all the gas that they have.

Despite all the fun that driving entails, the parking can be difficult in the JDHS lot. "Not having huge busses parking in my spot every day could help," says Sami Cariani. "It'd be nice if people didn't drive like grandmas," Alexa Martinez expressed.

Parking in the JDHS lot can be a hassle, for different reasons, but without it, students wouldn't be able to drive to school everyday and would have no use for their license and unique cars.

Whether Dayton students are riding in their cars with their music up, or just sitting in their car in the JDHS lot waiting for a parking space, students love their cars and are enjoying the last few years of high school.

No wonder Natalia always has the best boots on!

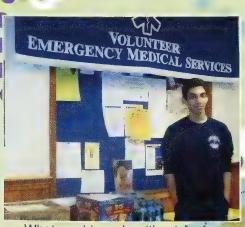

Most of our seniors here at JDHS have jobs to pay for daily expenses such as cars, cell phones, or even just trips to the mall!

Senior, Jasmyne Congery works at Bob's Stores as a cashier and apparel associate, working hard to save up for a new car. According to Jasmyne, "I love working with my best friend Aliah Snead because it's fun and we get to spend the whole day together."

The student body has all different kinds of jobs that significantly vary from waitressing, to office work, even to rescuing people in emergencies. Although our part-time jobs differ, we all share a common goal, to earn money for the things our parents won't buy us. Whether it's the fancy new navigation system, a video IPOD, or a laptop for college, Dayton students work hard to get what they want, which instills a feeling of accomplishment, while teaching the value of a dollar, as well as responsibility.

WORKING HARD? OR HARDLY WORKING BEN??

What would we do without Andrew around? He saves lives!

Caught of Guard

BY: CAITLIN MOONEY

Everyone has seen the posed pictures people take, either when they strike a pose or show off their signature smile. Although these posed pictures are classic, candid moments add excitment for many students. Now at Jonathan Dayton High School, we have the joy of being able to go back and remember these unexpected moments that truly made us smile. These candid pictures are memories that these seniors will never be able to reinact. Luckily enough, some of these surprising moments were captured and these unique "Caught off Guard" memories here at Jonathan Dayton High School will live on.

Right: Aakash, Eric and Zach experience varying degrees of bordom.

Far right: Brihanna, Alexis and Ashly refuse to ever be "caught off guard".

AIDMINISTRATION

Dear Member of the Jonathan Dayton School Community, most especially the members of the Class of 2010,

Congratulations on your many successes throughout the school year. The year has been marked with triumphs in the classroom, on the stage and on the playing field. I speak for the faculty and staff when I say that we are proud to have been mentors and coaches for our students as each has persevered to achieve a personal best. Dayton students have embraced all of the many opportunities we have provided for them at our high school, and we are all richer and better because of it.

Each year at Jonathan Dayton is one step in the journey, and we hope that the year has brought the personal fulfillment of learning and the joy of friendship. To the Class of 2010, we have given you the tools you will need to find success in the next part of your journey and we know you will represent Dayton well, wherever the road takes you.

Best wishes for continued success, Elizabeth Cresci Principal

National Honor Society

By:Amy Shtafman

On Wednesday evening of December 2, 2009, twenty-three elite students reached a memorable pathway in their academic lives. The National Honor Society Induction ceremony united these members, who are all individuals who contribute their superior grades to Dayton, in addition to a leadership platform, community outreach, and a mature sense of character.

According to Dana Strober, "Being apart of NHS doesn't just mean achieving academic excellence. It goes far beyond that. Of course scholarship is one of the factors, but NHS also seeks students who display leadership, service, and perhaps most importantly, character."

After receiving this honor, these thirty-six devoted members contribute their time and academic integrity by volunteering at both the high school and middle school.

Senior Evan Levy feels that his favorite aspect of being in NHS is "the feeling of appreciation the students feel for their years of committed and accomplished work."

The Executive Board includes President Dana Strober, Vice President Samantha Cariani, Secretary Amy Shtafman, and Historian, Jennifer Bleiwise.

TV Studio

By Kevin Finan

The TV programs at JDHS are intricate and many students have learned a great deal in Mr. Coward's classes. Mr. John Ghilino is a former advanced TV student and current morning news director who can explain the complexities of these classes. John believes that the most difficult part of the morning news is picking an appropriate song with clean lyrics to play over the intro. If he had to choose any job on the morning news it would be director because he gets to have complete control over the studio. John explained that Mr. Coward has a limited role in the production of the morning news because once the students know what to do, they are sufficient enough to run the show on their own. Mr. Coward does oversee the studio, nonetheless. Mr. Ghilino claims that, "TV class has created a great impact on how I lead as a peer and advanced student." Any student interested can get involved in TV by talking to Mr. Coward and signing up for his classes.

KEY CLUB

Within the Dayton Community there are many clubs that donate to worthy organizations. However, Key Club goes over and beyond to contribute to groups such as the Children's Specialized Hospital and Seeing Eye dogs. Key Club meetings are held in Mr. Tedesco's room and advised by President Caroline Murphey, Vice President Ashley Polukord, Secretary Casey Friedman, and Treasurer Alexa Perlstein. Caroline Murphey is looking forward to "gaining new members and raising money for old and new organizations."

One of the major groups the Key Club contributed to this year was the Children's Specialized Hospital. Casey Friedman believes "this organization brings great rewards to many deserving children who aren't as fortunate as others." For this organization, members of Dayton were asked to donate toys to the Children during the holiday seasons. This is just one of many groups the Key Club contributes to throughout the school year. Key Club is a great association that is constantly working to give back to the community and an overall greater good. Junior Ashley Polukord will do a great job leading this club next year.

IRIEBBIEL / ALTERNATIVES CLUBS

By: Gloria Jimenez

At Jonathan Dayton, there is always a way to find great success while having fun in a positive and safe manner. With the help of REBEL and Alternatives Club, this group of students provides the school with information about drugs and alcohol. Some activities that Alternatives Club has are the Wellness Fair, Annual Ice Skating trips and a few other nights in places like the bowling alley and going rock climbing at Diamond Gymnastics.

REBEL stands for Reaching Everybody By Exposing Lies. This club informs the students during the three lunches by handing out pamphlets that contain information on how smoking and drugs can affect you during Red Ribbon Week. During this week, the club goes to the parade held in Nomahegan Park.

The most exciting trip that they have is Stoney Acres. On this trip, the club members learn about trusting each other and it shows how you can have fun without having drugs or alcohol. Also, the REBEL club sets a date during the holidays to write out letters to thank companies for not selling tobacco to under-aged people.

REBEL and Alternatives Club welcome any new members at any time during the school year. There are many activities that attract the members now and helped them think twice when it comes to smoking and drinking.

Art Honor Society

By: Chinenye Ofodike

Art Honor Society, led by President Alexa Perlstein and Vice President Margo Kornspan, is a club in which individuals are able to express themselves through painting, ceramics, sculptures, portfolios and many other things. These kids do not only answer to the name Art Honor Society, but they work for it. These devoted members go to the middle school, help paint pictures and put them up in the library, paint around the high school and volunteer to paint elsewhere.

Art is a passion. According to junior Amanda Braxton, "Art cannot be defined for it is made up of the aspirations, emotions and soul of the artist. Everyone is unique so art cannot have one definition." Those involved with the Art Honor Society, don't only paint and sketch, but do ceramics as well. Just working in the art room is therapeutic. According to Amanda, "The art room is just a peaceful place."

Like many Art Honor Society members, Amanda has a favorite art piece, which is displayed in the library. It is a still life of cleaning supplies. The picture is so well done and the artist style makes it stand out among the other paintings.

Aside from creating art, the Art Society goes on trips during the school year. This year they went to the Metropolitan Art Museum to learn about various forms of art. But it's not the trips that attracts students to this club, it's "the freedom to do what we want and express ourselves. After all, that is art," claims Amanda.

VOLUNTEER CLUB

By: Julie Condit

oughout the 2009-2010 school year the Volunteer Club has been busy doing numerous activities to make the lives for others by volunteering their services. The people in the club have a passion for helping others and doing of for their community. They enjoy spending their time helping others that are less fortunate, in hopes to to brighten days. Sophomore Kyra Krebner recalled, "The joy [she] gets from helping others is invaluable."

Volunteer Club has been performing numerous activities, such as organizing the Senior Citizens Breakfast and ng to the Children's Specialized Hospital. The Senior Citizens of Springfield come to Jonathan Dayton High old for a great breakfast of bagels, eggs, bacon, and other foods. In addition they enjoy the high spirits of the dents as they chat and eat. Many students from the Volunteer Club also go to the Children's Specialized Hospital to arts and crafts projects with children with diseases and handicaps. This is a deed that brightens the day of these dren and many times helps them live longer because of the friendships Dayton students make with the children.

Many other activities are also done during the course of the year to help aid the community. All of these activities make the Volunteer Club as successful and rewarding as it is. Many members remember these activities for the of their lives because they have lasting effects and really touch the hearts of the members.

Medical Careers Club

By: Caroline Murphy

One of the most involved and active clubs in Jonathan Dayton High School is Medical Careers Club. With approximately eighty members, this club holds several fundraisers, events, and trips throughout the year. One of the most rewarding trips is the Holiday Overlook Service Project. Students visit Overlook Hospital with magazines to place in waiting room areas, toys for ill children, and cookies for the nursing staff. Other trips include tours of medical and research facilities, attending the BODIES exhibit, and viewing numerous live surgeries.

The goal of Medical Careers Club, led by Mrs. Ornovitz, is to increase awareness of career opportunities and broaden student's knowledge in the Medical and Allied Health fields. "Students also gain a better understanding of community involvement," explained President Aakash Patel. In addition to service projects, the Medical Careers Club also raises funds for medical research.

New additions to the Medical Careers Club include a website, a service project to Runnells Nursing Home, and midterm/final snack bags. Webmaster, Nevin Mathew, commented that the snack bags are a "fun way to raise money for the charities that we donate to."

Jonathan Dayton Spanish Club; a place where students can get an in-depth look at Spain culture. Spanish Club members in the past years have been able to go on various trips, such as and Taco Bell. The members also have the opportunity to attend a flamenco show, which takes Morristown.

Charlotte Slattery has been a member of the Spanish club since her freshman year. Since the views about Spanish club have changed for the better. She loves going to meetings, and talking Spain and its culture. However, she feels members "Don't get to go on enough field trips... and have that many meetings." The club, however, is her most enjoyable one to be apart of.

Aside from going on field trips, members get to watch movies, play an end of the year soccer versus the other clubs, in addition to attaining more knowledge about Spain in general. Joining the JDHS Spanish Club is the way to go if you want to learn more about the Spanish language and culture!

Le Club Français

By: Kimberly Seto

French Club is a place where French loving students go to express their joy of the language and learn about the distinctive culture. "There are so many great aspects about joining the French Club; there are delicious breakfasts that members can attend, fun trips, I can't even list all of them!" French Club Vice President, Jennifer Bleiwise, exclaimed.

Every school year, the French Club members go on at least two field trips and they are always fun. Last year, students went to New York City and watched a movie, in French! Afterwards, they went to a restaurant and ate an appetizing French meal. "The trips are so fun, I have to say, my favorite part will always be eating at the French restaurants," stated Gloria Jimenez.

Whether its just attending French Club meetings to talk about selling shirts or chocolate roses for Valentine's Day, going to the French breakfasts to eat croissants and drink hot chocolate, or talk about where and when the next French trips should be, French Club is a great place to go to when you want to learn about the culture, language, and just have fun!

Italian Club at JDHS provides its embers with a vivid linguistic and cultural perience. President Chris Pannella is a bignant member of Italian Club. He has en a member of Italian Club since his eshman year. As a member of the Italian club board, he is able to use his Italian peritage and vast knowledge of the Italian inguage to make it a fun experience for all tembers.

When asked about the opportunities resented in the Club, Chris said that it was ery useful to him in "learning the language and getting a feeling for Italian culture." Ir. Pannella recalled that if there were one ring he would change about Italian Club, it would be the frequency of the meetings, ecause he feels that the club does not meet ften enough.

If Chris could make the Italian Club trip e anywhere, he would make it to Rome, aly, where members could see Italian art and experience the culture first hand.

Mr. Pannella is just one of many bright oung members of Italian Club, where any uldent interested in Italian speaking and ulture can get an experience of a lifetime.

The ski club at Jonathan Dayton is mainly based on skiing and snowboarding. If it weren't for Ms. Bellarosa and Mr. Krupp and all the dedicated students this club wouldn't be in existence. The ski club members meet once a month planning the overnight trip to vermont. President Courtney Mason says, "The overnight trip isn't only a time for fun. It's a time to share a weekend with the members you wouldn't normally hang out with."

Along with the overnight trip, ski club does mini activities together to prep for it. So, if you enjoy skiing or snowboarding, or just want to learn how, the ski club is for you.

Junior Statesmen of America, or JSA, is popular club run by Mrs. Cokeing where members can about current issues affecting our society today. They also get together and fundraise for trips, winter trip to Washington D.C and discuss different aspects of the club.

On the trip, members debate other schools in our region about political topics such as abortion lowering the voting age. But trips aren't all business. There are dances to conclude the trip. There a a few changes Michael wants to make to help the future members of the clubs. "This year we are to get all members to the learn how the correct debate system works so everybody is comfortable spea conventions and in class. Also we want to get more people in the school involved."

JSA is great club to join because, "it's awesome and it's a lot of fun while still being helpful to situations. The debates can heat up pretty quickly but President Michael Grey says the most intelled moments are "every time Mrs. Cokeing tells us we're wrong, debates us, and wins."

Mock Trial By: John Ghilino

Mock Trial is one of the most realistic bs in the school. Students practice the urt system by serving as lawyers and tnesses in their own trials. There are o sides. There is the prosecution and e defense. Each side has two lawyers d three witnesses. Senior Zach Gozlan, no plays a witness says, "Each side has learn each case very well. Then we go Union County Courthouse to compete ainst another school."

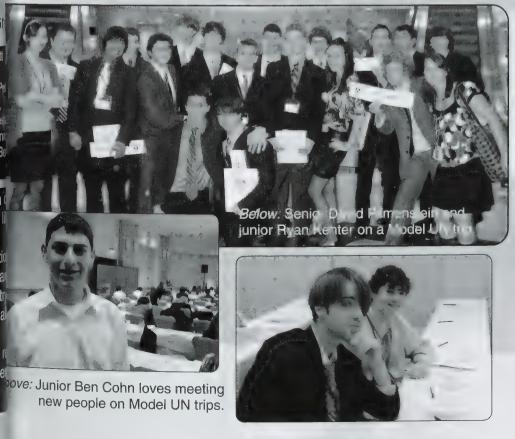

Zach thinks the most enjoyable part of ock Trial is cross-examination, which is nen another team's lawyer gets to do interogating, rather than a fellow yton student. He says, "It's the most allenging part of the trial."

Model UN is a club that shows a replica of the United Nations. Students work together to resolve broken conflicts. President Kevin Vice President Dave Lakritz. Pilmenstein, Advisor, Mr. Russo, and the devoted members of this club, meet three times a day to debate and resolve world problems.

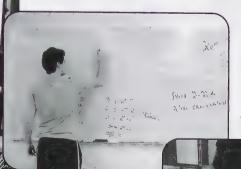

This year, after visiting Princeton, junior Ben Cohn recalled learning and practicing "debates just as the United Nations does."

In addition to learning about the United Nations, these members attend trips where they debate world issues and get the opportunity to meet people in the process.

When asked what he would want to tell a student planning to join this club next year, Ben stated, "It's a great experience. You get to meet new people and miss school. It's the whole package."

The Peer Leaders hold Freshmen Fun Night and go to the middle school to talk to them about alcohol awareness and drugs. Freshmen Fun Night is an event that helps them become more familiar with Dayton to make their transition easier into high school.

Courtney Mason, senior, believes that most of her peers listen to what they have to say because they ask questions and don't seem to be as shy after. "I wish they could take what we say a little more seriously though," says Mason.

Students should pay more attention to what their peer leaders do for them because they are only trying to look out for their best interest and make others aware of the effects of alcohol and drugs. Madison has upgrades to the music department over the past 4 years, pushing students to write their own music. "It's basically acoustic. Sometimes I add in bass and drums but it's fun," expressed Kimberly Shanks.

Dayton football was better than ever this season, defeating teams the we haven't defeated in decades, drawing crowds to games even as fare the Pennsylvania border. This year, the players became a "F-A-M-I-L" with a common passion for the game and a strong desire to win. Working out everyday during the off-season and waking up at 6 am every weekds in the summer, the team definitely earned their title of Conferent Champions.

Although we've come this far, a greater journey lies ahead for the dedicated players, as coach Goerge says, "Never be satisfied." The team is anticipating an even more victorious season next year and the senior hope to play college football. No matter what, we'll always remember the year that the under dogs became the Dayton Dawgs.

AYTORSOCCER

After losing several star players to last year's senior class, many wondered what the future would hold for boy's soccer at Dayton. This year, Senior Captains Giuseppe Paternostro and Jordan Sack led Dayton Soccer through another challenging, vet exciting season. One great thing about this year's team is that it's "full of friends," says senior CJ Moriello, who spends most of his time with defense partner-in-crime, Aaron Hinkes.

During game one of the 2009 season, all conference goalie and varsity starter, Jordan Sack tore his ACL. After a doctor's analysis of the injury, it was deemed this would unfortunately be Jordan's last game for Dayton.

Iordan doesn't remember the incident clearly, he just remembers "going down like [he] was hit with a bullet." Nonetheless, Jordan still contributed to the team by showing up to practices early to give pointers and helpful hints to Dayton's new varsity keeper, sophomore Brandon Moss.

The boy's offense this vear speedy is a powerhouse and defense has proved to be in tough strong situations. The boys have practiced countless hours in preparation for this season.

After a big win against Wallington, the Dayton found Dawgs themselves playing Palmyra in the Finals. Played at Hillsborough High School, what a game in was. After two grueling 40-minute halves and two 10minute overtimes, with a tied score of 0-0, the declared both Palmyra and Dayton as State Champs.

Overall. this has turned into another victorious season with big wins over Solomon Schechter, Brearley, GL, and High Tech. After a disappointing double overtime loss to New Providence. Varsity defenseman Aaron Hinkes had this to say about his last season at Davton, "We didn't lose any games, we just ran out of time."

The girls Dayton soccer team has come together this year to make the fall 2009 season a memorable one. After losing the seniors last year, the team wasn't sure if they could keep the team chemistry alive. However, Captain Sami Cariani says, "The girls are very close and it has helped us improve a lot since last year."

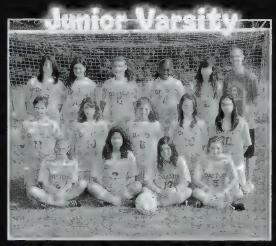

The girls practiced hard everyday working on their skills and strategies to win games. With seven seniors on the team, the underclassmen really stepped up their game and, with that, they were rewarded with playing time. "Although our record [wasn't] that great, I'm proud to say that no matter what, the girls [went] out on the field every game and [gave] it their all," says senior Casey Friedman.

As the season came to an end, the girls realized that this may have been their last time playing soccer together. "The seniors make up a big part of the team and they will definately be missed, not only by us girls, but by they coaches as well," says sophomore Emily MacDonnell.

Coach Lynch and Coach Hildebrand have dedicated many hours of their time for the team and even with the record of they stil have the faith that one day the girls will be state champions.

GIRLS BY GLORIA JIMENEZ TENNIS

The Girls Tennis team this year, coached by Ms. Tracey Saladino, had an exciting year, thanks to the fun they all had on and off the courts. "Tennis was like my break of the day because I had fun with all the girls while trying to beast at tennis," recalled Gracia Mena.

The Varsity team this year included seniors Julie Condit, Gloria Jimenez, Brinley Kaston, Gracia Mena, Mai-Linh Nguyen, and Lauren Shonberger, juniors Sara Berkowitz, Stacey Roth, and Carly Sobel, and sophomores Leah Cunningham and Allison Knapp.

Luckily, the varsity team qualified for counties this year, which took place in Plainfield. "Ummmm Counties was amazing!" claimed Mai-Linh. Captains Carly Sobel and Mai-Linh Nguyen motivated the team to improve their techniques, in order to defeat their opponents. They all tried their best and made it as far as they could.

As the season came to an end, the girls were happy for all the hard work they put into their matches. All the seniors will be missed and hopefully the next season will be as fun as this one. Whether it was spending time in Ms. Saladino's classroom or during indoor practices, the girls enjoyed spending time together. They bonded through a pasta dinner, looking back at a great season, where the girls built strong, everylasting friendships.

Cross Country

By John Ghelino

If there is a sport that tests will-power and strength, cross-country is that sport. Just ask captain Rachel Murray. Rachel says, "The hardest part about running is trying not to go insane." Both the boys and girls teams had big expectations going into the season, both wanting to qualify for the State meet at Holmdel Park at the end of the season. However Rachel's biggest goal for team was to have every runner improve from their first race to their last.

Dayton Cross Country is not just about running; there are other ways to have fun as well. Players have ultimate frisbee teams and compete in games against each other. Also, before actual meets, the athletes try and get pumped up by blasting music on the bus rides.

However, when the team isn't playing frisbee or blasting music they are training. A typical workout includes threshold miles, which are miles that are slower than race pace, but faster than an easy pace. As captain of the team, junior Rachel Murray says, "I make sure I set an example for all members of the team and make sure that people are acting appropriate and don't goof off too much. Coach Campbell and Coach Zika run a program that looks to be successful now and in the future.

Although only a few Dayton girls participate on the co-oped Brearly-Dayton Gymnaetice team, the team manages to get great recognition and respect amongst the Dayton community. Senior Samantha Weinbaum and juniors Erika Seals a Kirsten Vogt, in addition to the upperclassmen from Brearly, serve as great role models for the underclassmen who hope aspire to be great gymnaets. This year, Erika Seals, made it Sectionals for Beams and Bars, but unfortunately got in and was unable to compete for the remainder of the season. She's still got one more year to make an impact.

Swimming

By Natalia Sandford and Alexa Martinez

The Dayton swimmers join together with swimmers from David Brearley High School, Academy for Information Technology, Allied Health, Magnet High School, and Union County Vocational School. Led by captains Jeff Jaeckel, Dennis O'Rourke, and our very own Alexa Martinez. Alexa describes the team as a family and "unlike any other sports team."

Unlike any other team, they don't go against their opponents in pads and helmets but in Speedos and swimming caps. They spend most of their time underwater pushing themselves to their personal limits. As Alexa says, "every muscle is put to the test,"

Both Dayton seniors, Alexa Martinez and Giovanni Diaz can both agree that some of their best high school memories were created during the swimming season. Alexa will never forget "the permanent smell of chlorine" on her skin and the memorable half hour bus rides. Every Dayton-Brearley swimmer will take at least one great memory with them at the end of every season.

High school sports play a huge part in "high school experience" and this is true those who play boys basketball here at Day Over the years, Coach Martin had establish a dedicated boys basketball team and year's Captains Elliot Karp and Alex Popol say that playing basketball has been rewarding experience for them. Senior El Karp discloses, "Practices are rough a demanding, but we get the job done."

Practices, consisting of running a developing skills for the game, are necess for a successful season.

The boys claim that team bonding of the last four years has led to their curre success. Jonathan Wortman explains his great the games are "thanks to the present and continued support of the student body."

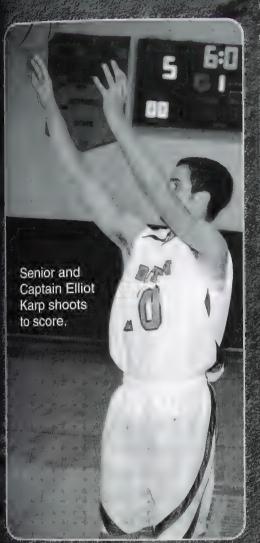

Basketball has instilled a sense confidence in the boys, as well as taught the values such as loyalty, responsibility, a accountability.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

"It was great to see how the girls improved tils year as a team. This has definitely been my favorito year together." — Samantia Carlant

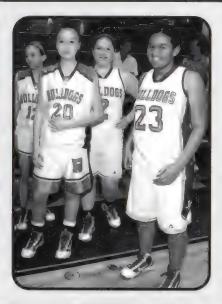

"I'm going to miss Basketball and the TEAM... I LOVE YOU GIRLS!" Melisa Mansur

When it comes to the Dayton Girls Basketball team, perserverance is the word that comes to mind. Despite the tough competition on the court, the team managed to put on quite a show this past season.

Captain Sami Cariani was devoted to make her last year at Dayton successful for JDHS girl's basketball team. Guided by Head Coach Dave Rennie and Assistant Coach Dave Campbell, the girls worked toward the common goal to once again be champions of the Mountain Valley Conference.

While some of the girls take the game very seriously, but many play simply for the fun of the game. The girls this year have a very high reputation to live up to and "will not stop until it is all [there's]."

HOCKEY

by Ionathun Gumbos

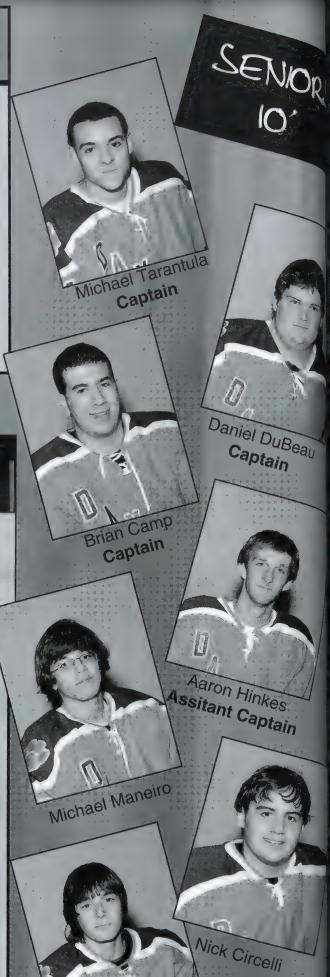

The Jonathan Dayton Hockey Team has been lucky enough to acquire their new Coach Andrew Trimble. Most of the players feel that he has great experience and he will be able to help rebuild the team after two rough seasons. Returning Coaches Jeff Schultz and Matt Schachtel, along side Trimble, developed new strategies for the team this season that led to be promising.

After the past two tough seasons, the boys have set out to improve their skills, and rebuild the underclassmen's faith in becoming a better hockey team.

Returning player and Captain Brian Camp is in his fourth year of playing Varsity Hockey and states, "Being on the hockey team is just like being in a big family, where team bonding is definitely the best part."

To be on the hockey team takes a tremendous amount of commitment on and off the ice. Players must be willing to sacrifice for the team.

After a two year hiatus of preseason, senior Michael Tarantula claims he loves being part of a "devastating top line" and will miss it once he graduates.

*Cheerleaders train and practice all season, the stunts and dances we do require incredible amounts of physical stength, agility, endurance and of course...heart" -

Taylor McQueon

It's competition season in the cheerleading world, and CheerDawgs have something to say. "We feel unappreciated because we spend hours at games and practices to understand the rules so we can cheer for our players, and understand their people turn Then around and say it's not worth it if people would take the come to our time competitions or take a second to learn what we go through everyday they would see that cheering takes a lot of poise and strength. You can't be afraid to try. When we put so work hard into much something, you don't want to be told that you're wasting time. We wish that the people we support would spent just as much energy trying to support our team," Kim Rego and Michaela Loesberg agreed.

definitely frustrating when no one else believes in us. It's our job to prove them wrong," Lauren Kerr stated. With that said, these girls put on their game faces. "I was very excited and knew that I had pushed myself to my best ability and rightfully earned my spot. Competition takes 100% focus and determination. It's nothing like a game and we will only succeed if every single focused." person is 110% Ariana Conte stated.

These girls are ready to bring home the gold. "I'm looking foward to competition and showing everyone what we are capable of. Our first place trophy will help us gain respect," Lauren Kerr proudly stated.

Along with constantly practice their routine, the girls are always together. "I believe that we ten girls do have a bond because we've been working overtime together learning the dance and for competition, which stunts makes us grow closer," Cara Bibbo stated pleasingly. Senem Donuk then continued to say, "We get to know everyone's strong points as well as weaknesses so we trust each other so much more."

It's safe to say that we should expect these fierce bulldogs cheerleaders to hit the mat and dominate the winter season competitions.

BOWLING

For the 2009-2010 year, the Jonathan Dayton Athletic Department premiered the return of its newly refurbished bowling team. This year's bowling team consisted of both varsity and junior varsity squads. This brand new team had many skilled players and was led by 300 bowler and Varsity Captain Mark Masucci. Bringing up the rear and leading the pack for the Junior Varsity Squad was younger brother Chris Masucci who appears to be a promising freshman bowler, having bowled several games above the 260 mark.

In its first returning season, Dayton had many victories, including big wins over Oratory Prep. and St. Pats. The bowling team finished the season strong with two consecutive wins. The Dayton Trophy case may need to clear a spot for bowling.

The "Bonding Bulldogs" endured a rigorous season with tough practices and hard fought games, but they tried to keep the mood of the team relaxed and stress free. "We're fun loving, and seem to truly enjoy each other's company," injured first basemen Jordan Sack said.

Coach Abbate, along with "Muscles," or Assistant Coach Jason Mullman, love the positive attitudes the players display. However, this year instead of learning, they were more focused on winning. The team's mentality helped them to focus on distant goals: the conference and the state tournament.

The lineup that the Bulldogs feature has speed and thunder at the top with Elliot Karp, Marquay Mayo and Alex Popolani. The middle of the lineup is filled with the "Brawny Bulldogs," consisting of Thomas Clark, Jonathan Lewis, Ross Goldfarb and Sammy Dushkin. Then they conclude with speed and the "young pups" consisting of DJ DiProfio, Chas Bohannon and Matt Roland.

The bulldogs are poised for success but are sure to have a good time as well. Marquay Mayo put it best saying, "I love baseball; it has been very, very good to me." They look to capitalize on a year to remember for the Dayton athletic teams.

BOYSTEANIS

The Dayton Boys Tennis team has many expectations to live up to this season. After winning three State Championships in a row, the team will be competing to win the fourth.

Coach Keele describes the season as a "building year" filled with "raw talent." He is hoping that by the end of the season the team will become polished.

After losing several starters last year, the team will face considerable hardships. The season is long and the team faces tough competition.

Nonetheless, Keele is hoping to get new players up to speed and have a fighting chance in winning the Group 1 title.

Senior Dan Karlin, a fourth year player and this year's captain, will have the opportunity to compete for the #1 player in the county. Other key players include Matt Neubauer, Ross Konesky, and David Pilmenstein. Dan expressed his favorite part playing tennis is "the competitiveness, playing statewide, and, of course, winning." Keele also loves being outside on sunny days and getting away from the stress of school and life. He finds tennis relaxing and loves the competition and team camaraderie.

The team takes great planning to prepare for the intense season. They run, do strength workouts, drills, and some take lessons on the side. Others, such as Karlin, play all year round.

This team knows how to work together. Being serious at practice allows everyone to play better, but they also leave time to joke around.

In Spring Track, "We practice, run around, workout and try our best to mal ourselves better for meets to come," says junior Andre Battle, who has won over medals for this sport last year (2009). The team practices every day of the wee except on Sundays. In order to make the varsity team a student must not min practice unexcused more than three times in a season.

The senior boys in this sport include: Brian Blondet, John Ghilino, John Hoeir Eric Pinhasovich, Spencer Reiss, and Alex Sturm. The girls include: Jasmyn Congery, Stephanie Farber, Sara Keffer, Mai-Linh Nguyen and Alexis Wallat Coaches Cozza, Kozub, and Zika train the students in running and jumping, while Coach Carter focuses on throwing. Captains junior Rachael Murray, who does long-distance running, and senior John Hoehn, who does both javelin and jump are prime examples of athletes who demonstate dedication and skill.

Junior Andre Battle, who also serves a great role model for the other athletes. is very confident in himself and the team that they will do extraordinarily belle than they did last year. When asked what Andre would like to say to the studen who are planning to become a part of this sport he replied, "It's going to be han but also fun if you are good at it."

SnowBall

By: Angela Reino

Snowball 2010 truly lived up to its name this year due to an actual snowstorm. Although not many people were at attendance, the few that were there had a great time despite the snow.

Snowball is formally a black and white dance where every grade is welcomed to just hang out and have a good time. Snowball was held on Saturday, February 8 this year and was DJ-ed by Dayton alumnae Jeff Shultz. There were more juniors and freshmen there than sophomores and seniors. "I just wish more seniors were there since it's one of our last events to spend together," says senior Elliot Karp.

Hopefully next year's Snowball will not fall on a snow-filled weekend, this way more students will be

SHAFFMAN Shob

On March 18, 2010, the Jonathan Dayton Halsey Hall auditorium opened for the production of Little Shop of Horrors written by Howard Ashman and composed by Alan Menken.

When the cast list was posted in early December, the cast members were excited to get to work and bring their characters to life. Junior Zak Glennon and senior Kim Shanks agreed they not only looked forward to the big performance but also to the "real talk", inside jokes, amazing atories, and dance days.

Although it's sad to say goodbye to the seniors, next year's sophomores, juniors, and seniors are excited to welcome the upcoming freshmen. The cast of Little Shop of Horrors was happy to give some pointers to the class of 2014. "Don't walk in with big attitude. It doesn't matter if you got the lead roles in middle school cuz this high school. Bigger and better competition," senior Arielle Dirichille explained.

Bigger and better competition," senior Arielle D rchille explained.

With an awesome performance, what must practices be like? "How would you describe five days of rehearsal up at 10 pm?" Junior Shannon Majewski explained, "take the trail of tears then add music, dancing, and lights." Sophomore Vesna Stoicovici then added, "It's very stressful, but rewarding in the end. We basically give up our lives to make the production a success."

Max Webb, Michael Sandford, and Babee Medina explain that tech week includes vocal rest, patience, laughs, and some screams. "Tech week equals... get annoyed at everyone. It's called hell week for a reason. Method to get through it? Dunkin', blow off as much schoolwork as possible, and Rockstar," Matt Rottenberg, Arielle, and Rachel Murray agreed.

Between the dancing, singing, and running the show, the cast still finds time to bond. "Second family, is an understatement, my fellow cast members are an extension of my soul," Zak stated. Arielle then continued, "They really do become another family, friendships you already have become relationships that you hope will withstand a lifetime." But of course there's no such thing as a happy family. "I'd call it a dysfunctional family. There's some we love, some we hate, and some we love to hate," Shannon Majewski stated with confidence.

It's unanimous that the cast bonds during these 3 months. Though it seems to remain a mystery how exactly they bond. Zak, Amy Shtafman, Shannon, Max, Samantha Weinmbaum, Arielle, and Matt agreed, "we have sleepovers and potluck dinners. You know the usual, livin' your life, snorin' it up. We're not at liberty to discuss this behavior outside practice it's against the code to reveal any information, what happens in the cast

Above: Ronette (Taylor McQueen), Crystal (Shannon Majewski) and Chiffon (Erica Korieocha) assist the audience in understanding the the hidden story within the show.

Jonathan Dayton has many school events that provide entertainment for students and faculty, but January 14, 2010's Lip Sync, sponsored by Miss Pizzo and the freshman class, was of the favorites. Acts ranged from Michael Jackson's "Thriller" to the impersonation of the Best New Artist, Lady Gaga.

With the help of our judges, Mrs. Chomko, Mr. DeNicolo, Mr. Tabachnick, Mr. White, and Mr. Mangarelli, the night ended successfully for the talented finalists. After competition, seniors Jasmyne Congery, Jennifer Bleiwise, and Ashly Tondi came in third place with their rendition of "Scrub". With his unique take on Aerosmith's "I Don't Want to Miss a Thing," junior Dan Hockstein came in second place. And junior Ali Diamond's interpretation of the great Lady Gaga lead her to win first place.

It was a night to remember.

The top three finalists share the stage as they receive their awards.

STUN-

The day you were born, Jordan and I hit the jackpot. Our very own baby doll, and he's REAL! In a blink of an eye you went from the little brother who gave wedgies, to the man I turn to for advice, good music and a true understanding of life and love. Thank you for allowing me to be more than just your big sister, but your best friend too.

May your college years bring you love, health, knowledge, creativity and inspiration. I'm so proud of everything you have accomplished.

So excited to see what the future holds for you.

Lah you so much!

Dear Ross,

You have given us so much joy over the years.
Although your journey has been difficult at times, you've used all that you've learned in such amazing ways. You have the greatest capacity to love openly, think differently and remain true to yourself. You deserve everything good and you've earned it.
We love you and we are very proud!!!

Colophon

We, the Editors of the 2010 Yearbook, would like to express our extreme gratitude to those who helped in the production of this memorable yearbook. A special thank you to our Photo Editors Caroline Murphy and Courtney Mason, and to our Business Manager Genna Gincel. Our greatest heartfelt thank you goes out to our amazing Yearbook Adviser, Karyn Chomko, who worked diligently and enthusiastically to facilitate the process for us.

Unfortunately, we were not able to finish the yearbook class with the lovable Mrs. Chomko due to the birth of her second child! Congratulations to Mrs. Chomko.

As the four years of high school have unfolded, we hope this yearbook brings back countless memories, friendships, and experiences which happened at Jonathan Dayton High School, specifically over the course of the 2009-2010 school year.

Congratulations to the Class of 2010 and good luck to all of our fellow classmates!

- Editors Jaime Cappa & Amy Shtafman

This year fashion expanded passed its usual boundaries. Celebrities like Rihanna and Kanye West started breaking the mold and taking fashion risks, but then Lady Gaga stole the stage changing fashion completely. Although the idea of fashion has become a little more outrageous, the staples haven't changed. Every girl has a pair of skinny leans and a pair of leggings and they're not getting rid of them anytime soon. Because of the economic strain felt by some, this year's trend seemed to revolve around taking clothes already existing within our closets and adding an originally spin to it by adding an accessory here or there.

Rihanna set tons of trends this year becoming more famous than ever-

2010 Winter Olympics By: Couriney Mason and Alexa Peristeun

The 2010 Winter Olympics were held in Vancouver, Canada. They were the twenty-first winter games and consisted of a variety of different sports including bobsleding, alpine skiing, snowboarding, ski jumping, luge, and many more. The olympic games were held from February 12th to the 28th and this was the third time Canada has hosted the Olympics. In the beginning their was some slight problems and delaying due to the unusual warm weather and snow had to be imported in. Eighty-three national Olympic committees entered in the 2010 Winter Olympics. Some of these countries are homes to reigning champions such as Shaun White, Bode Miller, Apollo Ohno, Lindsey Vonn and many more.

Shaun White took the gold again in the halfpipe making him a two time olympic gold champion at the age of 23. He scored an outstanding first run of 46.8 which ended up being enough to secure the gold medal. Shaun white of course took a second run- his victory lap. This very glorifying victory run ended with the hyped up Double McTwist 1260- 3 1/2 spins while doing 2 forward flips. This second run landed him a score of 48.4 (out of 50) just making his victory more prominent.

Gold Silver Bronze

Lindsey Vonn took the gold fulfilling all expectations. The 25 year old won the Olympic downhill with a swift run of 1 minute and 44.19 seconds and is the 1st American Woman to do so. Vonn Had a bruised right shin, but that did not seem to be any inconvenience at all. Vonn competed in 5 events although she did disqualify in one and break her pinky in another.

On February 13th, 2010 Georgian Olympic luger Nodar Kumaritashvili was practicing in the Whistler Sliding Center. While approaching the end of the track his sled lost control throwing him 90mph into an unprotected steel pole outside the rink. Nodar was airlifted to a near by hospital where he was announced dead.

Apolo Ohno made winter Olympic history by winning his 7th medal in the short track speed skating event. This last race challenged him the most, but he still won the bronze. Apolo is the only athlete to have competed in three consecutive Olympic games and win one or more medals every time.

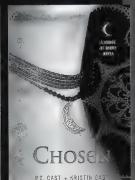

During the 2010 Winter Olympics USA received a total of 37 medals, nine of which were gold. These winners included Miller Bode- Alpine skiing, Shaun White-snowboard, Lindsey Vonn- Alpine skiing, Curtis Tomasevicz, Steve Mesler, Justin Olsen, and Steve Holcomb-bobsleigh, Hannah Kearney-freestyle skiing, Bill Demong-Nordic combined, Evan Lysacek- figure skating, Shani Davis- speed skating, an Seth Wescott- snowboard

House of Night

Written by P.C Cast and Kristen Cast, this series began being released in 2007 and has quickly climbed up the best-sellers list. The first book is being adapted into a film with an expected 2011 release date.

Twilight Series

The Twilight Saga, written by Stephenie Meyer, was released in 2005 through 2008 and is now one of the best-selling book series of all time. The four-part supernatural love story is a global phenomenon and the last book is currently being adapted into a film, with the first three already made. The characters in these stories will likely live on forever, just as vampires are meant to.

The Vampire Diaries

The first four books of this series were released in 1991 and 1992 before the vampire-craze really kicked in. Written by L.J. Smith, the series continued on in 2009 and is now a popular television show. With two more books to come and the adapted TV show, The Vampire Diaries will likely be popular for years to come.

But the music industry would soon die out of it weron't for the new artists. Ke$ha has ignited the flame with her hit sung "Tik Tok". Lady Gadia has been no known particularly for her outrageous outfits, but her fashion choices cannot overshadow her appealing music with songs like "Rad Romance" and "Paparanzi". Other new artists include Leighton Meester, Kris Allen, and Jason Derolo.

The Grammy Awards are very important to pay tribute to these and other accomplished artists. In the 2010 ceremony, records were broken and new artists were recognized for their amazing music. Beyonce won six Grammy's and broke the record for most wins by a female artist in one night. Taylor Swift wen four awards while Jay Z. Kings of Leon, and the Black Eyed Peas won three. Many others won two like Collide Califat, Lody GaGa, Emineur, Kanye West, Jason Mroz, Ellmann, Maxwell, and A. R. Rahman. All of these artists changed the way we listen to music and entertained America with their outstanding Grammy performances.

Another world changing musical event that occurred during 2010 was called "We are the World - 25" for Halti. After the devastating earthquake in Halti many stars were hispired to help and do what they could with their talent to make the lives easier for the people who were affected. ## Global News

Taylor McQueen & Arielle D'Achille

Throughout the school year, there has been a multitude of events flooding the news locally and globally. From the nations first-ever black president to Springfield's youngest serving mayor, the news has been covering all sorts of exciting things.

Locally, the tri-state area has had many epic events. In Springfield, Ziad Andrew Shehady, at age 25, became the youngest mayor to serve in New Jersey. Other events were in New Jersey include 3 earthquakes this year along with a blizzard that accumulated more than 3 feet of snow.

Globally, there have been many happenings this year. Barack Obama became the first black president. He won over his supporters promising to change health the care and terrible economy. Both had major crises this year. Health care was affected by the outbreak of a new type of influenza nicknamed "Swine Flu." This was such a scary illness because no one knew how to cure or prevent it. Also, the economy has been the worst people have seen since the Great Depression. While Obama and the US is trying to change their ways, they've also come together to support and help other countries. Haiti had a massive earthquake that left nothing standing. On top of the death count of around 225,000 people it also created an economic burden of around $10 billion dollars.

This year has been a very eventful year. This year is only the beginning of great things to come.

Dayton News!

Snowy Six-Day Weekend

This year the students of Jonathan Dayton were blessed with beautiful snowfalls, many of which resulted in several snowdays. But one snowfall stood out to the students of Springfield more then the rest.

Onthe eve of Tuesday, February 10th, a rumored Nor Easter started its attack on the tiny town of Springfield. Light flurries started to fall and pretty soon it snowed, and snowed, and snowed. Until it was almost a definite that school would be cancelled for the next day. But many wanted more. One snow day wasn't enough, they craved the satisfaction of two free days off from school. And since another day off would mean a six day weekend, the thought of this happening became more and more enticing.

Soon Wednesday came around, and as anticipated school was cancelled. But the snow kept falling. Into the evening, large blankets of snow carpeted the purpleish sky. But it was this evening that a miracle came in the sound of a phone call, giving the students of Jonathan Dayton thier first snow-caused six day weekend, ever.

Dayton Sports Successes

Over the course of the year, Jonathan Daytons sports have triumphed over their sucky losing streak. Both teams, the soccer and basketball team have been doing an outstanding job. With Coaches, Mr Fabiano, and Coach Martin leading both of their teams to victory! In a tough game, Jonathan Daytons soccer team tied with Palmyra, although when it all came down, we all know Jonathan Dayton should have won because we showed more unity, and spirit. The fans were all going crazy, only to go home devastated with a tie.

Our very own math teacher, Mrs. Garrod, was honored with being selected the District Teacher of the Year. Having taught at Dayton for 8 years, as well as having attended Dayton as a student, both students and parents have grown to love her dedication and drive within the classroom.

Congratulations Mrs. Garrod!
